DO NOT VICTIMIZE THE CAUSE OF HIGH INFANT MORTALITY

Dr. Woods Hutchinson Addresses Conference on Prevention of Infant Mortality—Best Solution Is In Higher Wages For Fathers.

Several rather popular ideas were given a severe jolt in the address of Dr. Woods Hutchinson on "Results of Philanthropic Experiments in Increasing and Decreasing Infant Mortality," at the conference of Prevention of Infant Mortality, in New Haven recently. Dr. Hutchinson remarked that the subject had been assigned to him as the Devil's Advocate of the section. "The general progress of modern civilization has markedly diminished infant mortality," he said, "together with all other death rates, though not in the same proportion. How far have the well-meant experiments of philanthropy assisted, and how far have they hindered?" Answering his query, he said that one of its first and most natural attempts had been to encourage children, had been weighed and now almost unanimously found wanting. Another experiment which he said was the doubtful value of the practice of preaching contentment with their wages and that station to which it has pleased Providence to call them, to the poor. The better way would have been to encourage them to fight for higher wages and a fairer share of the products of their toil.

"The child of infant mortality," he continued, "is poverty; the second and third are its children, ignorance and dirt. The only radical cure for poverty is in higher wages. Philanthropy has not addressed itself yet to the positive side of its problem—raising wages and shortening hours. Poverty is not a permanent or necessary state; still less a desirable one and a means of grace. It is an accident—a disease and a preventable one at that. Everything we do on the positive side toward preventing poverty will prevent disease, infant mortality.

STRATFORD

Misses Vivian and Mara Falken were two of our young ladies who saw the great football game on Saturday. Prayers were offered in Christ church, on Sunday, for rain. Wells all over town are drying up, and springs giving out.

Frederick C. Beach has presented the library with three very interesting and valuable books—Concrete Pottery and Garden Furniture by Ralph C. Davidson; Handy Man's Workshop and Laboratory, by A. Russell Bond, and Scientific American Boy at School, by the same author.

Another meeting of Christ church guild will be held Wednesday at the home of Miss Emma Allen. Last night at the regular meeting of the Red Men, four new candidates received the Adoption Degree.

Our High school has a basket ball team composed of Ludwig Castle, Geo. Hale, Fred Gary, Harry Flood, Emmett Beardsley and Arthur Taylor.

Rev. C. S. Bullock is home from Far Rockaway, where he has been lecturing.

Mr. Charles Mills has recently been in New London on business. The best dressed couple at the recent Farmer's Convention were Mrs. J. W. Rogers and Herbert W. Doolittle.

Three volumes of a Civil Service Manual, including arithmetic, English and all subjects and geography, by railway mail and spelling have been added to the local library. Postmaster Bristol, having examined the books, pronounces them valuable for reference.

Some day this week the family of Louis Phillips of Bridgeport will move into the Josiah Booth house on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Judson have been visiting in Albany and Pittsfield. Mr. St. John has got a new drug, Wallace Wheeler having found employment in Bridgeport.

Miss Alice Judson has written to friends in town a letter describing what she saw and heard at Medera, on her way to India. She is sailing on the good ship Cleveland.

Tomorrow evening a whist party will take place at the Devon club.

Miss Florence Kimball of Chelsea, Mass., and Miss Constance Fairchild of New York, have been guests of Mrs. Walter Wheeler.

There will be several whist parties in town Thanksgiving evening. The Ancient Order of Hibernians will give one, also the Odd Fellows.

Next Saturday evening there is to be a special meeting of the Grange when the second degree will be conferred.

Sunday Thanksgiving sermons will be delivered from the various pulpits. A few of those who assisted at the annual Munson's recent surprise birthday party were the Misses Bertha Wilkes, Charlotte Smith, Mabel Rogers, Harriet Darrow and Misses Margaret Smith, John Park, Theodore Tompkins, Herbert Doolittle, Ernest Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilkes and Mrs. and Mrs. DeLacour and her two sons, Harold and Reginald, witnessed the football game at New Haven.

FAIRFIELD

A case of considerable interest which attracted the attention of many of the private coaches in town, was argued yesterday before Justice Walker, attorney Clitus King appearing as prosecutor. Gilbert Goodman, coachman and overseer for Mrs. J. K. Robinson of Greenfield, Hill, was charged by Alfred J. Price with assault and breach of the peace. The assault was committed, Saturday, in the stable and according to Price's story, he was sitting upon his trunk, when Goodman, who is an Englishman, struck him, smashed his glasses over his eyes and kicked him. He walked lame, yesterday, dragging one leg, and one of his eyes was black and blue. Price said there was no reason so far as he knew for the assault. After the fracas he was discharged by Goodman from the employment of Mrs. Robinson. Goodman pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $1 and costs. Price claims he was hired by the month, at $50 a month, and he proposes to bring a suit if need be, to recover a whole month's wages. A check for the amount due up to date was offered the plaintiff but he declined to receive it.

The Portmanteau Sewing Society was in session yesterday afternoon at the residence of Miss Kippen. Many young ladies were present making garments for the fresh air children.

It was James Hillhouse Hewitt and family who once lived in the house now occupied by Clitus King. This family went to St. Louis long ago. Mrs. Catherine Hewitt, who has purchased the Wallace place, is not known to ever have before lived in town.

Sunday last the Hollywood team of Southport played the Lenox Athletic club, of Bridgeport, beating it by a score of 16 to 6.

Thanksgiving evening at Lyceum hall, the Fairfield Athletic club proposes to hold a smoker.

Miss Child in her address to the students of the Staples High school laid special stress upon the necessity for good ventilation and spoke of the present increasing practice of sleeping out of doors. She also thought women do not take enough out of door exercise and said that a three or four mile walk is but the beginning of what one should take. Sweeping was recommended for girls as a good form of exercise.

Mrs. W. Childman has been to New York to attend the funeral of her niece. She married W. Shannon.

Capt. Joseph Furniss of Southport as just discovered at some 40 years ago, while handling a snuff jar, a small piece of it got into one of his hands, and has remained there ever since. A cut near the spot discovered the missing lid of the jar.

Morgan Farley has quite recovered from that severe cold. James Farley was in town over Sunday.

NEWTOWN

The friends of Miss Augusta Campbell will be pleased to hear that she won fresh honors at Syracuse University. In the account of the cast selected for the play "An Ideal Husband" in the Syracuse Daily Orange name is on the list appointed by the Board's Head Club which is as follows:—The final trials for the cast of "An Ideal Husband" were held in the Hall of Languages. The play exhibited was very much superior to that shown at the preliminary trials, the new material being exceptionally good.

"An Ideal Husband" is a four act comedy by Oscar Wilde. It is a very popular play and has always attracted a great deal of attention when produced. Miss Campbell will impersonate the part of Miss Cheveloy.

Merchant Henry Ruff spent Monday in the Park City.

The plan for reserved seats for Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard, which opened at the store of P. H. Beers is fast filling up and a crowded house is assured. The play has been very well presented at Bridgeport and South Britain. Get your seats secured in time for Friday evening Nov. 19, at the Town Hall special fine music has been secured for dancing to follow the close of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thickett have entertained Miss Evelyn Cleveland of Bridgeport over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright entertained friends from Derby Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Jepson and daughter Grace of Redding have been country a few days in town the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruff.

Miss Fannie Daniels is entertaining Mrs. Walter Munson of South Britain this week.
